NEW Update Coming to the Login for Regulated Members

Over the past year, the College has been working with our current registrant database provider, Alinity, to upgrade the current system to make it more user-friendly, responsive and to include more features for regulated members and applicants.

The College is working to have the new database available to all regulated members in November. Prior to launch, there will be a period of time where the current system will be unavailable as we convert over to the upgraded system. During this time, if you require access to any information found within your online profile, or you have any updates to make to your profile information, please contact the College office by phone at 780-448-0059 or by email at office@collegeofdietitians.ab.ca.

The College office will contact all regulated members by email when the new database is available. We will provide you with your new login credentials at that time along with a guide for the new registrant database.

Stay tuned for more information!

Important Information for Regulated Members on Professional Liability Insurance and Employer Provided Insurance

All regulated members of the College of Dietitians of Alberta are required to carry Professional Liability Insurance. Many Dietitians have employer provided liability insurance such as is provided by Alberta Health Services.

Recently, Alberta Health Services (AHS) provided employees with information on their employer provided liability insurance. In their presentation, AHS informed employees there may be exclusions to coverage for AHS employees and those exclusions may include:

- Representation for Regulatory/College complaints;
- Representation or indemnity for intentional acts of wrongdoing (i.e., privacy breaches)
- Representation and/or indemnity for activities outside scope of employment.

These are very important points to understand as these exclusions mean you may not have the coverage or protection you think you have. This also brings up the issue of employer provided insurance in general and what coverage it offers those employees who rely solely on employer provided insurance for protection.

It is important to understand that if you are part of a complaint to AHS or any employer, based in part on your conduct, and are terminated, suspended or you resign, the employer must notify the College's complaints director in compliance with the Health Professions Act (HPA). The complaints director may treat the information, notice or non-compliance as a complaint and act on it under the HPA. Your employer provided insurance would not cover you for legal representation and/or possible indemnity (damages arising from your actions).

The College strongly encourages you to hold personal Professional Liability Insurance (PLI). This may be in addition to your employer's insurance and the reasons for this include:

- Employer policies do not always cover expenses such as legal defense or indemnity for damages in professional disciplinary matters.
- An employer's insurance company may sue you for reimbursement of any money they paid out as a result of your actions.
- Your personal PLI also follows you if you work at multiple sites with more than one employer.
- When you retire or leave employment, personal PLI covers you for a period of time during which patients/clients may still bring a claim against you.

- Your employer insurance may not cover you for any advice or volunteer work you do outside of your regular work hours.

If you are a member of Dietitians of Canada (DC), you are able to purchase third party liability insurance through your membership. You may also purchase liability insurance from Sheppard Insurance at a reasonable price. Information on liability insurance and purchasing through Sheppard Insurance can be found on the College website, under For Dietitians – Liability Insurance.

Vaccine Hesitancy

Vaccine hesitancy is described as a delay in acceptance or refusal to vaccinate, despite the availability of vaccination services. According to the World Health Organization (WHO), vaccine hesitancy is now one of the top 10 threats to global health, despite robust evidence showing the effectiveness and safety of vaccines. The WHO also acknowledges that health care professionals are among the most trusted sources of information when parents make decisions regarding vaccination.

Although discussing vaccinations with patients is not generally within the “scope of practice” of dietitians, dietitians should refer patients/clients to the appropriate healthcare provider to discuss and answer their questions on vaccination. Dietitians must not promote anti-vaccination messages or alternative therapies, and must not provide vaccination information, opinions or advice in general. Dietitians may direct patients/clients to credible and reliable sources of information, and to physicians and other healthcare providers with the expertise to answer their questions.

Alberta Government announces Fair Registration Practices Act

In June 2019, the Government of Alberta introduced Bill 11: Fair Registration Practices Act, in the Legislature. According to the government, the proposed legislation will:

- create a Fair Registration Practices Office;
- remove any unfair barriers to licensure;
- improve procedural fairness of licensure processes;
- require interim assessment decisions within six months;
- have regulatory bodies provide reports on their registration practices as requested; and;
- allow the Minister to perform audits and issue compliance orders, if necessary.

The Fair Registration Practices Office will not review individual cases.

The College of Dietitians of Alberta will be subject to the provisions of the Fair Registration Practice Act. The College is confident that its registration requirements already meet the spirit and intent of the legislation but will work with government to continuously improve processes.

College Statement on Cannabis and Registered Dietitian Practice

Despite recent changes to the legalization of recreational cannabis use, no changes to provincial legislation or dietetic regulations have been made that would impact the Registered Dietitian role regarding advice to clients on cannabis consumption. For the College's complete statement, please read the "College Statement on Cannabis and Registered Dietitian Practice" found on the College website under Regulated Member Resources.

College Webinar Documents from "Update to Bill 21: An Act to Protect Patients"

On June 10, the College hosted a webinar providing an update to Bill 21: An Act to Protect Patients. If you were unable to join us for the live presentation, or you wish to view the webinar again, you can access the webinar link, copies of the webinar slides as well as a FAQ document containing the questions received during the webinar, posted on the College website under Regulated Member Resources.

All regulated members of the College are required to be aware of the legislation changes and how it affects their practice. If you have any questions, please do not hesitate to contact the College office.

Under Bill 21, all College Council, staff and regulated members are required to complete mandatory training. The learning modules are currently in development; the College office will contact all regulated members in December with further information.

Recognition Awards for 2019

The Preceptor Recognition Award was created to recognize the excellence and dedication of preceptors in Alberta. The College is pleased to present the Preceptor Recognition Award for 2019 to Karol Sekulic, RD from Edmonton.

The Dietetic Intern Bursary Program was introduced to support current dietetic interns who have demonstrated exceptional professionalism in practice while studying dietetics at the University of Alberta with the intention of becoming a Registered Dietitian. The recipient of the Dietetic Intern Bursary for 2019 is Courtney Cox. The College wishes Courtney all the best as she embarks on her career.

The Preceptor Recognition Award and Dietetic Intern Bursary were presented at an award recipient luncheon at the College's September Council meeting.
